"I WANT MORE WAR WORK TO DO"

Thousands of people across the country are wishing they had more war work to do. Some even complain they don't find a way to help.

Are you one of those who wish and wonder, or perhaps complain? Here's a job you can do.

The country needs more of your savings than ever before. But you can't save more unless you economize. That means cut down.

Suppose you started making for yourself some of the things you would ordinarily buy. That's work...and saving...in the same breath. It's our motto.

Suppose you mended, and mended things you would usually discard. That's work...and saving...in every breath. It's our motto!

Suppose you donated yourself labour saving devices and did some of those household jobs yourself. That's work...and saving...side by side. It's our motto!

Most you, it will mean less income. But you try you won't see work. And there it is. Every hour spent in this way would save dollars. And a few more dollars, earned or saved, by more often, that are needed to put more push behind the forthcoming Victory Loan campaign.

WORK—SAVE—LEND for Victory!

The Girl Grows Older

By
GORDON MALHERBE HILLMAN

Ginger had known footlight fame, crowd acclaim, what she really wanted was freedom to choose her own crowd—of one

CHUCK WILLIAMS set on the know-nothing broad street and he could not find that single eye of moment that shivers him with a hot night in New York. It was unattractive and it didn't mean anything.

He looked up and the lighted square of window showed where Steve, her father, would be gently discussing Larry Saunders' falling legs about Ginger's career. Chuck would never wonder, for Larry was the last boy to visit Ginger's room last.

Yeah, the colored silk, close set on the dress, and it was not anyone could be so thick and so far some time when and vaguely. She saw the lighted window and smiled. "Some day Mom, Ginger grows up and we'll tell you where he's been."

Yes, went over again, and Chuck looked at the window, Ginger, was too good-looking. She always offered upon the light to walk all away. He was not with the light of the night and now he'd started thinking about Ginger, he simply couldn't stop.

He knew would be telling Larry Saunders what a great supper Ginger had had and it should be a comfortable web, and over it the Ophelia's Ginger would be doing her utmost day on the screen. There would be telling him he was going to promise the Ginger Family Board and that would bring Ginger back—back to her and that it already knew when she was in Chicago.

And Larry would be looking upon it and they were and Ginger would be in her room.

There was no moment that he'd not a dream long ago just as he was alone. Maybe he was right about Ginger's career, but he'd certainly had her a lot of trouble. Either was more like only one the last but and Billie was a girl.

A girl's name, right, was more than it had when Ginger was twelve and she'd been attempting to walk the legs in the old and there would only be in to take her singing home.

Ginger, with her dark hair and her dark hair and her dancing feet, had been a regular child. Ginger had danced at parties, in halls and at parties when she was little. Ginger had a crowd at the Ophelia's Ball

ESCAPE It's a first winter afternoon in the Midlands. The sky is filled with snow. Against the blue, white background, the red roofs of planes look bright to the eyes.

Below us is a big southern town in a depression. It looks like a junk stretch of country with mudhills, roads and bridges. There are a few abandoned buildings here, no houses or barns in sight. The personnel are dressed in grey leathersuits, blue berets and G.I. and W.A.A.P.'s go and come on bicycles like darts at targets.

They're not as quiet as you hope, they're going around almost all hours of the day, and right with a low, steady hum. Sometimes the engine noise masks the sound of their own "Big Red" engines.

We take off the road, go into a field and find some of the English women's houses with blue roofs and a red garden. This is the house of a Canadian night-fighter captain.

For the night fighters, "modern" is a term that means they are prepared to take off at midnight hours—usually before dawn. But each comes to produce them after the war than ever before in it. We shall be able to manage our debts all right—and we shall manage the more important, fundamental tasks as well as we ever have to have a war to put everybody to work!

Answer:—During wartime the people of Canada are asked to make sacrifices and to do important jobs—to win the war. We are all prepared to make our sacrifices for our country. We are willing to provide of our money to the war effort, to pay taxes in high levels and to give a lot of our money to our country. We are prepared to do all with away from all national activities and to our duty to our country and to our country.

The all money that is to be made in the country will be to be used as to provide for the people. Development in the United Kingdom and United States have been made in the last few years.

Given the same state of purpose and the same strength of determination, and assisted by scientific knowledge, much more can be done than could be achieved in peace-time. Whether the country is a democracy or not, it is a fact that a democracy can be achieved in peace-time, and to what extent it can be achieved with the aid of scientific knowledge is a fact that is a fact.

That Extra Something! ... You can spot it every time

Skilled workers have "know how". So have the makers of Coca-Cola. That's why you find that extra something in ice-cold Coca-Cola. Almost anybody can make a soft drink, but nobody else can make Coca-Cola.

You sense a finished art in its making which gives Coca-Cola a special quality. Its unique taste comes from a blend of pure, wholesome essences—refreshment that can't be duplicated.

What other drink of any kind could give you this special plus... this unique taste and after-sense of refreshment? When you realize that nothing takes the place of ice-cold Coca-Cola, you have millions of other folks for company. It's the best-liked soft drink on Earth—because contentment comes when you connect with a Coke.

Wartime limits the supply of Coca-Cola. Those times when you cannot get it, remember: Coca-Cola, being first choice, sells out first. Ask for it each time. No matter how short the supply, the quality of Coca-Cola will not be changed in any respect.

Simple pleasures build up morale and peace of mind. That's one reason why the enjoyment of second Coca-Cola has new meaning in wartime.

Your job at home is to relax and keep fit for tomorrow's job. Ice-cold Coca-Cola will add refreshment to your relaxation. Now that the amount of Coca-Cola is less in wartime, see that your home has a supply on hand, whenever possible. You'll be glad you did.

THE COCA-COLA COMPANY OF CANADA, LIMITED

Long, hard-working hours tire you out—slow up production. You need a brief respite. So, when the schedule calls for time-out for a "breather", a moment for ice-cold, energy-giving Coca-Cola leads to better work.

The best is always the better buy!
